

Editor The Star: In your recent editorial you have been suggesting four-year terms for the governor and four-year appointed terms for our county tax assessors.

I think you are right about the governor, except I think any governor should be allowed to succeed himself as long as the people see fit to put him in office.

As for the appointed tax assessor I think you are wrong, for that would be taxation without representation. We would have a tax system the like of which the people have never seen. Instead, I think we should tighten up on our assessing laws.

For instance, starting with the cotton growers, I think every cotton grower should be required to assess a bale of cotton before he could sell, just as we are required to assess an automobile before we can buy a license for it.

As for the stock growers, I think they should be required to turn in all sales of livestock to the assessor. Timber growers should also be required to turn in their sales to the assessor.

As for the factories of our state, I think we should work out a system so as to encourage new industry to move to the state.

As for the salaried workers and the white-collar workers, they should be put on an income basis. To bring it down to a point, I think everyone should be put on an income basis for all personal taxes.

As for real estate, I think every home owner or property owner should be required to furnish the tax assessor with a poster or poster with the picture of every building on his property attached, with the dimensions, and for what each building is used. Then the equalization board could tell at a glance whether a piece of property is assessed at present value or whether it is assessed at the value of 20 years ago.

J. W. W.

Today's letter bears the signature and address of a rural Hempstead county subscriber who wanted only the initials published, a request which most newspapers honor. We appreciate a reader's thoughtfulness in writing out his views for public debate, and wish we had more such letters. Of course your name and address must be declared to the editor, but we'll publish only the initials or a pen-name if you want it that way.

J. W. W. argues that changing the county assessor's office from an elective to an appointive post would mean "taxation without representation." I'd like to examine that point right now.

The people vote directly on county tax matters. There's a millage figure on the ballot for schools; another for roads — and when you voted on the courthouse and hospital construction projects you at the same time approved a specific millage rate for each of these.

That's democracy in action — a proposed tax, which the people either accept or reject.

But the value of the property which the tax is levied against is a question of fact, not a matter for campaign oratory and voters' opinions. You do not vote on questions of fact. You hire competent appraisers and clerks and determine what the facts are — and only then, when all property has been located and its value fairly determined, are the people in a position to make their balloting effective on the millage question.

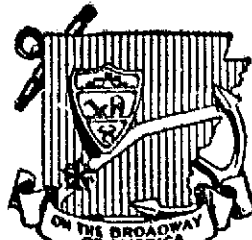

Actually, it is the present system of elective tax assessors which makes for "taxation without representation" — because the record is clear and indisputable that the present underpaid and undermanned office can't possibly run down and assess today's devious and complex property structure. The way it works is: The man with little property may pay a whole lot, but great and complicated holdings may be largely overlooked.

The obsolete office of elective tax assessor has literally and factually destroyed the democracy represented by the placing of a millage figure on the ballot — because the voter controls the millage without controlling the property values that the millage is to be applied against.

You are supposed to vote once — not twice — in an election. But here in Arkansas we are trying to vote on both the millage question and the assessor's office, and it won't and can't work. One of the first men I met when I came here from El Dorado 24 years ago this week was Dr. Don Smith, then president of the Hope School board. He cracked to me that the trouble with school finances was: "Every time the millage goes up the assessments go down — and the money comes out the same."

That's how it is. It hasn't changed in 24 years — and it'll never change until the people decide to do something about it.

Last November I had the honor of being invited to serve on the state-wide Joint Tax Revision Committee, which Governor Francis Cherry suggested be formed to School Districts Plan for Annual Elections

The annual school election will be held by qualified electors of various school districts in Hempstead on Saturday, March 21, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.

The electors will vote a millage to be levied for building, debt service and general fund for the operation of schools of their districts. A district must vote at least 10 mills to qualify for state aids.

Districts electing board members are as follows: Hope School District No. 1-A elects two directors, one for Post No. 1 and one for Post No. 2, each to serve for three years. Blewies School District No. 2, elects two directors, one for Post 1, for five years and one for Post 2, for three years. Patmones School District No. 9 elects two directors, one for Post No. 1, for five years and one for Post No. 2, for one year. Hempstead county School District No. 3, Spring Hill School District No. 10, Saraboga School District No. 11, Wagoner School District No. 12 and Guernsey School District No. 20 elect one director each for a period of five years.

The polling places in these districts will be the same as heretofore designated.

One member is to be elected on the County Board of Education from Zone No. 3 for a period of five years.

All vacancies of school boards or County Board members filled by appointment since the last annual school election must be elected by popular vote in this election to complete the unexpired term of the one making vacancy.

The 1934-35 proposed school budget of each district together with tax rate must be made public on or before January 20, 1933.

All districts must publish a legal notice of election once a week for three consecutive weeks, the first publication to be at least 20 days before the election.

To place a name on the ballot of school director a petition must be signed by at least 20 electors of that school district designating the post for which he is running and the petition must be filed with the secretary of the County Board of Education Commissioners at least 20 days prior to the school election.

For a name to be placed on the ballot for a position on the County Board a petition must be signed by at least 50 qualified electors from Zone No. 3 at least 20 days before the election. The final date for filing these petitions is February 28.

The election officials to conduct the annual school election will be selected by the County Board of Education Commissioners. It was announced by E. R. Brown, County School Supervisor.

Jimmy Davis Show Is Postponed

A musical show scheduled for tonight in the Livestock Show Coliseum has been indefinitely postponed, Manager Bob Shivers announced today.

The show, headed by Jimmy Davis and his Louisiana gang, will play at a later date. The cancellation was due to the illness of Mr. Davis.

Advise him on tax policies. The governor used our ad valorem tax reform suggestion in his inaugural address last Tuesday.

The No. 1 requirement of that program is that the county tax assessor's office be removed from elections and filled by local appointment. Our committee was unanimous on this. I doubt whether there is much possibility of mistake when more than 20 business and professional men gathered from all over Arkansas study an age-old problem and come up with unanimous agreement.

You may recall a speech I made before Hope Rotary club a couple of years ago — it got state-wide quotation because of one bit of research I did in the courthouse assessing records. I found that the state veterinarians coming down here to inoculate dairy herds for Bang's disease had treated more cows than there were cattle on the assessment records.

In other words, for tax purposes, there wasn't a single steer in Hempstead county!

Blizzard Howls Across the Plain States

By UNITED PRESS
A prairie blizzard howled its way across much of Nebraska and Kansas, today, piling powdery new snow into drifts and glazing highways with ice.

The storm swirled through South Dakota, too, and the little town of Plimington was cut off from electrical power used for heat and light until "partial service" was restored today.

The town's 800 residents were warned by power company Manager J. E. Germann that "it will be three or four days before we are back to normal operation." He told them to keep their heat turned down "low," despite zero cold.

Many persons spent the bitterly cold night with friends and neighbors who had coal-burners.

A heavy blanket of fog, meanwhile, descended on New York City and disrupted travel schedules. Arrivals and departures at La Guardia field and Idlewild international airport were held up, and many ships scheduled to dock were lying outside the harbor due to poor visibility.

Five Bales of Cotton From Three Acres

Five bales of cotton from three measured acres was the 1932 cotton achievement of John W. Seymour of Fulton.

A good crop of hairy vetch covers the sandy creek bottom three acres each winter. The vetch is turned each spring when the growth averages about 10 inches in height.

About three weeks prior to planting the cotton on May 10, Mr. Seymour bedded out on 400 pounds per acre of 5-10-5 fertilizer. This amount of fertilizer was used because a soil test showed this recommendation. Mr. Seymour shallow cultivated the beds with a field cultivator ahead of planting to clean the field of unwanted vegetation. It was thought necessary to cultivate the cotton four times during the growing season.

A strict policy in scouting a cotton field for known insect infestation as recommended by the Extension Service is followed by Mr. Seymour. This season poison was applied nine times during the fruiting period.

Hairy vetch is growing on the cotton field at the present time to protect the plant food elements and the soil from leaching and eroding. This green manure crop plus plant food applications to meet cotton plant food needs should continue to serve as an aid in keeping Mr. Seymour in the production per acre leadership role says County Agent Oliver L. Adams.

LITTLE ROCK, (AP)—A bill which is almost certain to arouse strong opposition from oil and bauxite interests—and probably others—was scheduled for introduction in the Arkansas House today.

The bill, for a general increase in severance tax rates, would make the levy on oil two and one-half times what it is at present.

Oil contributes 80 per cent or more of the some three million dollars average annual state income from the severance tax.

The tax on bauxite would be doubled. While the income to the state from this mineral is far less than that from oil, it still is sizeable.

A severance tax, as its name indicates, is a tax imposed on removal of minerals, timber or other natural resources.

The bill, prepared by Rep. Harold Hallman of Sevier County, would increase the severance tax on oil from four per cent; on bauxite, from 10 to 20 cents per ton; and on coal from one to two cents a ton.

The tax on timber would be tripled, from 10 cents per 1000 board feet to 30 cents.

Similar increases on other natural resources, which yield smaller amounts, also are sought.

Rep. Robert Harvey of Jackson County said he also was preparing a bill for an increase in severance tax, but that his proposed boosts would be confined primarily to oil, natural gas, coal and timber.

The severance tax last year netted a total of $3,425,030, of which $2,895,523 was from oil and the next largest amount, $213,308 from bauxite.

The Senate yesterday received 20 bills, including measures to open the way for Arkansas unions to regain the union shop; 2 lower the penalties for violence on the picket line, and 3 make liquor retailers and owners of buildings housing liquor stores and beer taverns liable for injuries and damages caused by an intoxicated person.

Sen. Edwin Cash of Malvern and Fletcher Long of Forrest City introduced the bills to repeal and amend Arkansas labor laws. One of their measures would reduce violations of the law prohibiting picket line violence from a felony to misdemeanor and cut the penalty from up to two years imprisonment to a maximum of $100 fine and—or—30 days in jail.

The other would repeal two sections of a 1917 act which prohibits the union shop and sets up penalties for violations. Under the Cash-Long proposal the closed shop still would be illegal, but management and labor would be allowed to negotiate the union shop.

In a closed shop, nobody but union members may be hired; in a union shop, anyone may be hired, but he must join the union.

Sen. Q. Dyrum Hurst of Hot Springs introduced the liquor bill, which would make not only the Continued on Page Two

British Arrest Ex-Nazis in Plot to Regain Power

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD

BONN, Germany, (AP)—In a surprise midnight swoop, British police last night arrested six former Nazi and accused them of plotting to regain power in Western Germany.

British public safety officers, assisted by armed military police, hauled the men out of their homes in the Hamburg and Duesseeldorf areas, in the British occupation zone, and carted them off to an undisclosed jail.

A British Foreign Office announcement, issued in London, said the plotters promoted anti-Western views and propaganda which threatened the West German federal government as well as Allied policies. The statement added that investigation would continue of the group's activities and "contacts within and without the federal republic."

Britain's high commissioner in Germany, Sir Vome Kirkpatrick, ordered the arrests under a law empowering occupation authorities to act against threats to the security of the Allies.

Among the men seized were two who had been named in Hitler's will to succeed to high political posts in what the suicide-bent Fuehrer envisioned as a continuing Third Reich.

A British spokesman said the men had not yet been charged, but they were being held while their anti-Western activities were investigated further.

Late last night, Sir Vome had a secret meeting with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to inform him the arrests were taking place.

A British spokesman said merely that the Chancellor "took note" of the information.

Those arrested included: Dr. Werner Naumann, former state secretary in Dr. Joseph Goebbels' Propaganda Ministry, who was nominated in Hitler's will to succeed Goebbels as Reich propaganda minister.

Dr. Gustav Scheel, formerly Reich student leader and meeting gauleiter of Salzburg, Austria, who was nominated in Hitler's will for the post of Reich minister of culture.

A Herr Zimmermann, former SS Elite Guard brigade leader and economic official connected with the administration of concentration camps.

Dr. Heinrich Haselmeyer, leader of the Nazi Students League in Hamburg and an associate in Hitler's abortive Munich putsch of 1923. He has published works on racial science and sterilization of the unfit.

Heinz Siepe, former Nazi district group leader, now a part-owner of the Puntkall steelworks at Salzgitter.

Russians Jail Two Former U. S. Soldiers

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Two former U. S. Army men were accused of spying for Russia today in a plot linked to the Soviet Embassy here.

Attorney General McGranery announced that the two were arrested in Vienna, Austria, yesterday. They were named in a secret indictment returned by a federal grand jury on Tuesday.

Simultaneously with McGranery's announcement, the State Department announced it has demanded that Russia recall Yuri V. Novikov, second secretary of the Soviet Embassy, because he was "engaged in activities incompatible with his status as an accredited diplomatic official."

McGranery said the former army men are Otto Verber and Kurt L. Ponger, both of New York City. They are brothers-in-law, and naturalized Americans.

Arkansas Is Part of 200 Plane Raid

By VICTOR KENDRICK

SEOUL, Korea, (UP)—More than 200 United Nations jet fighters-bombers turned a five-bridge complex north of Shanghai into a red supply line bottleneck by blasting it for the seventh consecutive day today while protecting Sabre jets shot down two more MIG-15s.

One of the enemy jets was knocked down and one damaged in morning fights while the rest of the claims came during the afternoon, bringing the Sabres' two-day MIG total to 15 destroyed, two probably destroyed and five damaged.

Communist radar-controlled anti-aircraft guns sent up an intense curtain of fire as the U. N. jet bombers zoomed down on the bridges.

"Those gun positions were shooting down at me like they were intending to get real personal," said 1st Lt. Donald R. Hayes, Little Rock, Ark. "As we pulled up off our bomb runs they were still pretty serious."

Lawmaker Is Indicted by Grand Jury

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A federal grand jury indicted Rep. John L. McMillan (D-S.C.) yesterday on a charge of violating a law which bans members of Congress from entering into contracts with the government.

McMillan has said he brought on a "more or less friendly action" to determine his right to oil lease rights in Utah which he bought in 1951 from the Interior Department. The department canceled the lease in 1952, contending McMillan, as a member of Congress, had no right to hold it.

The indictment was returned a few hours after McMillan, at his own request, appeared before the grand jury.

The law involved prohibits members of Congress from executing or holding an interest in a contract with the government. McMillan contends the oil lease is not covered. Violators of the law are punishable by a maximum fine of $3,000.

Miraculously Nobody Was Reported Killed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A runaway passenger train, its horn screeching, crashed through a barrier into Union Station today.

At least 49 emergency patients were rushed to hospital but almost miraculously no one was reported killed.

Frank J. McCarthy, assistant vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, said the station master listed six persons as seriously injured and ten who might have been seriously hurt.

The train, the Pennsylvania's Federal Express from Boston, demolished the station master's office and smashed a newsstand in the center of the concourse, an area separating the tracks from the main waiting room.

The electric locomotive and one car then plunged through the reinforced concrete floor into a baggage room in the basement.

There was no immediate explanation as to why the brakes apparently failed as the train approached the station through the yards.

Passengers estimated its speed variously as between 30 and 40 miles an hour.

Only the long, continuous warning blast of the horn and the plume through the concourse light saved a heavy human toll.

Had the floor not given way, the train would have plowed on into the baggage room, waiting room, and the concourse separately.

The train shudders from the station proper. It usually is crowded with early-morning commuters, but this morning did not begin to compare with the thousands who will be jamming the station beginning this weekend.

The visitors will be coming here for Tuesday's inauguration of Dwight D. Eisenhower as President.

Nathan Lickerman, Chicago business broker and a witness to today's crash, said the scene reminded him of "the fall of Rome as I have seen it in the movies."

The horn, blaring continuously from far out in the railroad yards, warned railroad employees the train was out of control. Word was flashed to employees in the newsstand and station master's office. Workers and bystanders rushed to safety.

Otherwise, a station official said, the loss of life would have been "appalling."

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—Rep. Knox Klum of St. Francis County today introduced in the House a bill to allow full deduction of tax paid on state income from the federal income tax.

The bill would make the law as it was prior to 1947.

The exemption first was reduced to 50 per cent and later eliminated altogether.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—Gov. Francis Cherry said today he would announce the names of the 11 new state racing commissioners at a news conference scheduled for 3:30 p.m.

Cherry said his new racing commissioners would be sworn in at the same time he announces their names. He already has appointed Jack Carnes of Camden as the new chairman.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—Gov. Cherry said today he would submit to the Highway Commission a recommendation by 16 Arkansas senators to retain Orville Fabus of Huntsville as highway director.

Cherry said, however, that he had not yet received the petition from the senators.

He said he did not consider the legislative approval of Fabus an attempt to interfere with his or the Commission's prerogatives.

"They have a perfect right to make recommendations just the same as do any other citizens," Cherry said.

Cherry repeated previous statements that he would not attempt to tell the Commission what to do. He said that the amendment adopted at the last general election under which the Commission is set up specified it has authority to select the director and he added he had turned over the Commission all recommendations which had come to him.

Cherry said he was going to stand "hitched" on his present choices for commissioners unless and until they were rejected in whole or in part by the Senate.

"That's the Senate's privilege," he said.

He said that if there were any rejections he would immediately substitute other names but added that he did not anticipate any trouble getting confirmation even though the Senate yesterday delayed action on his requested approval of the group.

The Huntsville newspaper publisher was appointed by former Gov. Sid McMath and also served as McMath's administrative assistant.

Senators signing the petition included: Chas. James P. Baker, West Helena, Jack Clark, Texarkana; J. E. Garner, Ft. Smith; Tom Allen, Brinkley; Lee Beavers, Warren; Lee Bearden, Trezevant; Marshall Shuckfield, Jr., Ft. Smith; Fred Stafford, Marked Tree; Q. Hyum Hart, Hot Springs; Wiley Bean, Clarksville; Jim Thornton, Jr., Menz; Russell Ford, St. Louis; Ray Jones, Conway; Roy Milam, Harrison; and J. Ford Smith, Augusta.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—The Arkansas Senate, after turning down an attempt to again bring up Gov. Cherry's appointments to the Highway Commission for confirmation, adjourned this morning until 1 p.m. Monday.

Sen. Ellis Fagan of Little Rock, who was absent when the Senate voted in the executive session to defer action on the Cherry appointments, asked if it would be "unethical" to confirm those members of the Commission who were "non-controversial."

Pulaski County Rep. Glenn Walther, attorney for the St. Francis Valley Turf Association, said yesterday "It is possible that a mandatory injunction will be sought to force the new Commission to accept and consider the bids."

Bids for the track were solicited by the Racing Commission last month. The action provoked former Gov. Sid McMath, who discharged the Commission and appointed a new one, which refused to consider the bids.

There has been some wrangle over which of the two Commissions could not legally. A third Commission will enter the scene when Gov. Francis Cherry signs a bill passed yesterday in both the House and Senate.

Cherry had named Jack Carnes of Camden to head the Racing Commission in his administration. Walther said he is considering mandamus action in view of a statement made by Carnes. He said Carnes stated "that he intends to disregard action of the Racing Commission McMath attempted to free despite the fact that the attorney general rules that such a Commission was valid at the time the decision to advertise was made."

Agency Seeks to Regain Adopted Child
LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—An adoption agency went to court today in an effort to regain possession of a baby whose foster father died in a plunge from an oil derrick.

The Holy Name Adoption Service seeks a writ of habeas corpus which would require Mrs. Edna James of nearby Lakewood to give up the 10-month-old girl.

E. W. Sheridan, attorney for the Los Angeles adoption agency, contends that Mrs. James' husband committed suicide last November, about seven months after the couple was given possession of the baby. Police said they were unable to give any reason for his plunge.

Since then Mrs. James repeatedly has refused to give up the baby and is keeping her a prisoner, Sheridan charged.

Sheridan said, "There is no question as to Mrs. James' fitness as a mother, but the agency believes that a youngster must have a father also to assure a normal childhood."

The agency says all legal procedures for the final adoption of the baby have not yet been completed.

Mrs. James' attorney, Elsie M. Farris, holds that the agency has "no legal right to take the baby Patricia away" from Mrs. James, who claims she is fully able to provide for the little girl.

"I love my child," said Mrs. James, "and I'm going to do everything I can to keep her. We waited two years to get her and she's all I have."

Wood substance weighs about 1 1/2 times as much as water, but most wood will float because the substance contains many air spaces. Tigers do not usually climb trees but they have been known to do so in terror, notably in a flood.

TV Seen as Aid to Rural Doctors
BALTIMORE (AP)—Can television help keep rural doctors up to date? The University of Maryland makes a test tomorrow to find out. The idea is to bring to doctors in remote areas the latest in medical techniques via TV.

The experiment, with station EBAL-TV providing the television equipment and manpower, will be held at the university's Medical School. It will be over a closed circuit and reach only from one room to another.

In 1952 the United States shipped about two million tons of coal a month to overseas destinations.

Truman Sees Continued Prosperity

By DAYTON MOORE

WASHINGTON, (UPI)—President Truman predicted continued prosperity today for most of 1953 but warned that falling farm prices are a bad omen.

Two members of Mr. Truman's three-man council of economic advisers saw some possibility of a recession in 1953. But the third member, John D. Clark, sharply dissented from this view.

Clark refused to join the others in drafting two lengthy chapters of the council's yearly report. The chapters dealt with long-range future prospects and policies needed for maintaining prosperity. Clark said plans already made should insure full employment.

In his annual economic message to Congress, the President and his advisers forecast "reasonably stable" prices, full employment and good in personal income, wages and business earnings this year.

Mr. Truman said that if the prop-

Sees No Hope for War Prisoners

WASHINGTON, (UPI)—Rep. Ayres (R-Ohio) said today he has talked to numerous returning Korean veterans who "don't hold out any hope" that U. S. war prisoners will survive Communist imprisonment.

This is one reason, Ayres added, why he joined three other congressmen yesterday in asking the House to investigate alleged Communist atrocities against combat men and war prisoners in Korea.

DRAKE AND SWAN

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A Drake hopes to succeed a Swan as a city councilman.

Thomas D. Drake, retired Army colonel, yesterday took out nomination papers for First District councilman.

Vice Mayor Franklin F. Swan has announced he will not seek a second term as councilman from the First District.

Dr. policies are followed the nation's output could be $500,000,000 a year in the next 10 years.

But the council said a deflationary trend might set in late in 1953 if business adopts a "glum" outlook on the future or the new Republican administration makes "sharp" changes in the present government policies.

Two council members warned that a continued sag in farm income and reduced defense spending could throw the nation into a recession by 1955 unless business and government take preventive steps.

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT

DEBORAH and Susan went into the kitchen. "Put the pot over while I wash my hands."

While Susan was filling the cups with coffee she said, soberly, "You didn't talk too much, Aunt Debbie. What you said is going to help me understand Father better." She bent impulsively and kissed Deborah's cheek. "You don't know how glad I am you're here!"

Deborah put her fingers against her cheek. Her eyes on Susan were warm. "Bless you, child, for telling me that. What's the three of us doing today? Why don't the three of us go on a little hunt—drive somewhere for a lunch. Isn't there a farm or something outside of Norfolk? I remember passing it. It looked inviting."

Susan and set down across from her but she took only a sip of her coffee. "I'd love it—I've never been there—but I couldn't go today. I told Father I'd drive over to the plant this afternoon. He's giving Kate Briggs a vacation—he doesn't think she looks well and she is going to know me something about the books and things so I can take her place for a while. I should be home now getting something ready for supper. Nell—"

"Nell has a date?"

"She has a rehearsal, late this afternoon. But she does have a date nearly every afternoon with a boy. Aunt Debbie, I'm terribly worried about that, too." Tears showed in Susan's eyes for a moment. "She says she's terribly in love with him and she's sort of reckless. I don't know him—he may be all right. He lives over on the flats but that should not be against him. Only—I wish she would invite him to come to the home—that she wasn't going out and meeting him on the road somewhere and going nobody knows where. If Father finds out... and he will, of course, someday... Oh, I'm dreadful to unload myself on you, this way!"

"Not at all. My muscles may be sore but my shoulders are strong. There isn't much you can do—Nell isn't a child—except think that it will turn out all right." Deborah spoke briskly over a desire to shed a few tears herself, but for Susan, too young to have all this responsibility put upon her, missing the good things of youth. She said, then, irrelevantly, though not so much so, considering the track her thought had taken, "John Wendell asked me why you were not at the supper. He was disappointed."

Susan's cheeks went hot and she covered them with her hands, her eyes shining for just an instant, then clouding. "If you're implying, Aunt Debbie, please don't! I haven't time to think of anything like that!" She got up from her chair. "I must go home now. Thanks—for everything. And I am going to send Bill over this evening to finish that appling for you."

"It'll be nice if he will," said Deborah, though it would be cheating her of that secret pleasure she got out of it. "I'll have him trim the shrubs, too. Clear out weeds. Pay him for it." To herself, "I'll bet the kid never has more than two nickels in his pocket."

She watched Susan cross the yard, hurrying back to her responsibilities. "You could have told her you'd make a meal out of there—that ground beef and Tom's gone—you could take it over and put it in their oven. Willie wouldn't know, to choose over it. Why didn't you tell her you would?"

It was a pity Susan did not have some of Nell's self-centeredness. "I haven't time to think of anything like that!" If she were not prevented, the girl would throw love right out of the window, along with everything at youth.

"Hush, Willie," said Deborah, "She had worked herself up to the point of indignation where she could say it with freedom. For his blindness—an ostrich, indeed. Saying he was giving that secretary of his a long vacation because he didn't think she was well. He was tiring her off for good, probably, and he would not face facts squarely enough to come out and say it. His pride was tighter on him than his skin."

Yet there was compassion in her little rage. "If I'm money he needs right now..." But that impulse ran instantly against a wall. "He wouldn't take your money," Deborah. "He'd think it was tainted!"

She turned away from the door. She could not go back to her snail—she could not be left for Bill to do. But she could clean the back shed.

Nell was late coming home to supper on the Saturday evening preceding the church commemoration. To Susan's relief her father was too preoccupied or too tired to dwell on her absence or to speak of Bill's, for Bill had gone with the Purdy boys up the river to cool wiensers over an open fire.

Her father severely tainted his food. "I think I may be coming down with a cold. It's possible. I won't feel well enough to go to the service tomorrow."

Susan looked at him, startled. "Father! You're the Senior Deacon!"

"True, but it is not very considerate to expose others to a cold..."

"Take some aspirin and go to bed. The bottle's in the cabinet in the bathroom. You must go to bed."

Cherry Must Name Revenue Commissioner

LITTLE ROCK, Mo.—Gov. Francis Cherry was faced today with appointing a temporary Arkansas revenue commissioner following the resignation yesterday of Carl F. Parker.

Parker's successor, Horace E. Thompson, has said he will not leave the presidency of Arkansas A&M at Monticello until mid-term graduation Jan. 23.

In submitting his resignation, effective tomorrow, Parker urged that Cherry appoint a fill-in commissioner by Friday so the Department will have a disbursing officer.

World's newest V8

with a million miles behind it

HERE, in literal fact, is the most advanced V8 engine ever placed in a standard-production American automobile.

It is the first such V8 to reach an 8.5 to 1 compression ratio, and the first with a dynamic flow muffler that cuts power loss to zero.

It is the first V8 to utilize vertical valves together with a 12-volt electrical system instead of the usual 6. It is also the first designed with new "Y" type intake manifold to replace the "V" type conventionally used in V8s.

It is, quite simply, the first V8 Fireball Engine—the engine that brings electrifying performance to the greatest Buicks in fifty great years—the engine that powers the 1953 Buick Roadmaster with 188 hp., and the 1953 Buick Super with up to 170.

Naturally, this spectacular new V8 has been proved—by eight years of developing, testing, improving, perfecting—

Rome Posters Attack Communism

ROME, (AP)—Brilliantly-colored posters attacking communism and attacking the Reds of preventing two new Roman Catholic cardinals from coming to Rome to receive their symbols of office blossomed throughout the city today.

The bright placards were posted by Premier Alcide de Gasperi's ruling Christian Democrat party a few hours before Pope Pius XII can was to present the new hierarchy on square one to James Cardinal McIntyre, Archbishop of Los Angeles, and 15 other new prelates of the church who did not get to Rome for the occasion.

The presentation is another highlight of the six-day week which opened Monday with the Pope's elevation of 24 prelates to bring or red hats.

The College of Cardinals to its full strength of 70 members. Six other new cardinals were to get their directives from the heads of state in Spain, France, Tunisia and here in Italy at a special ceremonies.

The elevation ceremonies conclude tomorrow with the great public consistory in St. Peter's Basilica at which the Pontiff will pre-empt Monday with the Pope's elevation of 24 prelates to bring or red hats.

ARKANSAS
Sportettes
by CARL BELL

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Abolition of two-platoon football should help the Arkansas Razorbacks more than it could hurt them next fall because of:
(1) The methods of Coach-elect Bowden Wyatt;
(2) The material which will be available for 1953, and;
(3) The number of players normally available to Arkansas.

Wyatt, as are all Tennessee-trained men, is a strong believer in superbly conditioned football teams — players who are hard as rocks and can keep going when the opponents wilt.

The advantage that type of technician formerly held was minimized by the practice of using separate offensive and defensive platoons. A foe, if strong enough in numbers, could keep shooting in fresh men that wouldn't wilt.

It won't be surprising, as a result of yesterday's rule change to see Arkansas using the alternate 11 system that paid off in a Southwest Conference co-championship in 1946. That year John Barnhill used one team in the first and third quarters and another in the second and fourth.

Both elevens were physically hard and played both offense and defense. With the two-platoon system as it is now known still not so widespread in use, Barnhill's teams often won by wearing down the opposition.

During his recent visit to Little Rock, Wyatt confessed that he preferred that method of alternate duty teams. But, he added: "The advent of the two-platoon system made the alternate teams impractical. As long as you are

Wyoming to Give Wyatt His Release

CHEYENNE, Wyo., (AP) — The resignation of Bowden Wyatt, who has ridden high, wide and handsome for six years as University of Wyoming football coach was announced Wednesday night.

He doubtless will be released, reluctantly, next Monday to accept a contract from the University of Arkansas.

The resignation was announced by Dr. George Duke Humphrey, Wyoming president, while here on legislative business from the seat of the school at Laramie, 50 miles to the west.

The Arkansas contract was offered the 36-year-old one-time Tennessee end last Monday on condition that Wyoming release him from a 10-year contract with nine years to go.

A meeting of the Wyoming board of trustees was set Monday to consider the matter. Previously, Wyoming officials indicated that when, and if, Wyatt resigned, the matter would go through channels for consideration at a regularly scheduled meeting Feb. 28.

Dr. Humphrey received the resignation from Glenn Jacoby, Wyoming director of athletics.

"It is with considerable regret that I forward this resignation to you with my approval and recommendation that Coach Wyatt be given his release from the University of Wyoming at the earliest possible date," Jacoby wrote.

That and the special board meeting indicated Wyatt would be released to accept a five-year Arkansas contract at $12,000 a year.

Dr. Humphrey said only that a full discussion of the resignation would be held. Wyatt's Wyoming salary has never been officially disclosed, but reportedly was $10,000 a year.

Wyatt returned Tuesday to Laramie after conferring with Arkansas officials and apparently submitted his resignation immediately. He said in Arkansas he wanted to arrange his release to be on the job by Jan. 20.

The Wyatt situation caused high going to use platoons and can change them as often as you want to, it's better to have platoons of specialists."

Well, the specialists are ruled out now.

Looking over the Arkansas roster hurriedly, it appears the Razorbacks have any number of griders on both offense and defense. Used as offensive or defensive specialists last year, they weren't great stars. As double duty men they might well be.

Bud Brooks, the rough-tough guard; Ends Floyd Sagely and Red Warren; Tackle Tom Garlington; Guards Sammy Dumas and Harold Spain are examples. Among the boys coming up from the freshmen, Preston Carpenter — Lewis' younger brother — promises to be outstanding on both offense and defense.

Year in and year out, Arkansas doesn't have as many topflight football players as most of its rivals. Sometimes the Razorbacks have had a better starting 11 but just because they had a weaker second or third 11.

And, of course, the end of specialization will save all the schools money. The traveling squads will be smaller — made up of all-around football players without the added number of one-job boys. Arkansas isn't among the richer colleges.

Two-Platoon System Killed at NCAA Meet

By BEN FUNK

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., (AP) — America's college football coaches, stunned by the swift, unexpected death of the two-platoon system, faced with mixed emotions today the massive reorganization job they must perform between now and September.

The fabulous era of free substitution, with its big squads of highly trained offensive and defensive specialists, was ended. Ahead of the coaches, in the next eight months, lay the task of building whole new teams to play the game both ways.

With one quick, dramatic blow, the two-platoon system was killed yesterday by the Football Rules Committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

It was no secret that resentment against the system and its fabulous costs, which had forced 50 small colleges to abandon football, was building up to a high pitch among college presidents and administrators.

But the coaches, in a recent poll, had voted 4-1 to keep the system alive, and it was generally believed that if the coaches were to feeling among Cowboy State football fans, long victory hungry before he came out of the south in 1947 to lead the Pioneers from the football wilderness.

Wyoming officials said he had indicated satisfaction only recently, and only a couple of weeks ago, he said he wasn't interested when connected with speculation concerning the Arkansas post.

Wyoming's football fortunes had been long lattered and torn before he came from Mississippi State. From then on, the Cowboys became an offensive powerhouse with Wyatt's version of the Tennessee single wing and a hard-hitting defensive outfit, well-drilled in fundamentals.

In a six year span, 1947-52, inclusive, Wyatt teams won 39, lost 17 and tied one and won the Skyline Conference football crown in 1949 and 1950. The '49 outfit went on to beat Washington and Lee in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 1, 1950.

Wyatt's situation caused high going to use platoons and can change them as often as you want to, it's better to have platoons of specialists."

Well, the specialists are ruled out now.

Looking over the Arkansas roster hurriedly, it appears the Razorbacks have any number of griders on both offense and defense. Used as offensive or defensive specialists last year, they weren't great stars. As double duty men they might well be.

Bud Brooks, the rough-tough guard; Ends Floyd Sagely and Red Warren; Tackle Tom Garlington; Guards Sammy Dumas and Harold Spain are examples. Among the boys coming up from the freshmen, Preston Carpenter — Lewis' younger brother — promises to be outstanding on both offense and defense.

And, of course, the end of specialization will save all the schools money. The traveling squads will be smaller — made up of all-around football players without the added number of one-job boys. Arkansas isn't among the richer colleges.

Witness Against Spivey Is Accused

NEW YORK, (UP)—The key witness against Bill Spivey, former Kentucky university All-American basketball player accused of perjury arising from the "fixing scandal, today faced contempt proceedings because of his refusal to talk.

The silent witness was Jack (Zip) West, who already is serving a three-year term on charges of bribing Spivey and others to "shave points" on basketball games.

West made his refusal to talk in a different courtroom from where Spivey is being tried. The convicted fixer was brought from prison at Alcatraz, N.Y., to appear yesterday before a grand jury still investigating the cage scandal, but declining to discuss the whole affair.

"My case is settled," said the indignant west. "I am doing my time. I don't care what happens here."

he overruled, it would be gradually.

"It was a radical action," said Columbia's Coach Lou Little, who attended the committee meetings in an advisory role.

"But when we thought it over, we decided we could have as good a game as we have had before, and this is going to help the colleges with financial problems."

Committee Chairman H. O. (Fritz) Crisler, Michigan athletic director, said the momentous decision was reached "with the best interests of football in mind."

"I have never known a single topic to be discussed so thoroughly," Crisler said. "We had a free exchange of views from all sections of the country from coaches, players, administrators, spectators, officials and the press."

"We were gravely concerned about those schools that have had to abandon football. In the end, after three days of serious, unselfish discussion, we decided it was necessary in the interest of football's future to bring an end to the two-platoon system."

Crisler called it a historic meeting, the most important since 1906, when the committee made drastic rules revisions to cut down injuries to players and end a threat by President Theodore Roosevelt to outlaw football in the United States.

The new regulation, which restores the era of the "iron man" football performer, states that players removed from a game during the first and third periods may not return to action during those periods.
